About Me

Hello!

I'm Joshua Monaghan and I'm the HIVE classroom teacher. I'm passionate about creating a fun, welcoming classroom where students feel excited to learn. I believe that when students feel comfortable and engaged, they can do their very best learning. Outside of the classroom, I enjoy keeping active and looking after my health and fitness. You'll usually find me at the gym, boxing, watching football, or exploring new cafés while coffee hopping. I also love fashion and staying active, so I'm always on the go and bringing that same positive energy into the classroom each day.

My Education

I graduated with First Class Honours in Sports Coaching and Development before completing my PGCE with Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) in Physical Education. My background in sport has strongly shaped my approach to teaching, as I value teamwork, resilience and active participation. Although I come from a sporting background, I firmly believe that all students benefit from physical engagement within the learning environment. In the HIVE classroom, I aim to incorporate movement and interactive activities where appropriate, as this can help students stay focused, motivated and better connected to their learning.
